PLAY BALL ON CHESTNUT HILL.

A very excellent exhibition of the national game was given yesterday evening by amateurs on the Chestnut-Hill diamond, when the boys of Chestnut Hill crossed bats with the Elks, and were by them defeated by a score of 3 to 2 in eleven indings. The contest from start to finish was spirited, and the really good playing on each side elicited ap-plause from the large gathering of young ladies and gentlemen of the place. The Elks pride themselves especially on their signal victory, because five of their op-ponents were members of McCabe's win-
